

XM Satellite Radio and my GPS unit are the two best tools I have for taking long road trips. XM Satellite Radio keeps me up-to-date with stock market activity, world news and weather information conveniently from the same clear channels no matter where I am in the USA. Searching for specific information, like weather news, via traditional local AM or FM stations is not practical for the long-distance traveler. By the time I sort out local stations my location has changed and their signal has become weak and unreliable. I gladly pay XM Satellite Radio for the wonderful service they provide, please let them continue to give me the weather information needed for travel safety.
